There's a New Family
in Town!

The award winning and inspiring team of Rich Appar, Sean McDermott and Ron Mauer would like to introduce you to their new family of products.

Born from a marriage of the experience of thousands of installations by CEPPro Top 100 Integrators, and years of patented custom audio product development, Current Audio is new ideas, new materials, new sound, new looks and innovation beyond compare.

In addition to a full speaker line, including our new patent pending FIT (Focused Image Technology Ceiling Speaker), we are introducing two new multi-zone audio controllers, with optional 1080 video matrix, two new in-wall and in-line surge suppressors, volume controls, and most importantly -- we're bringing the FUN back to our industry!

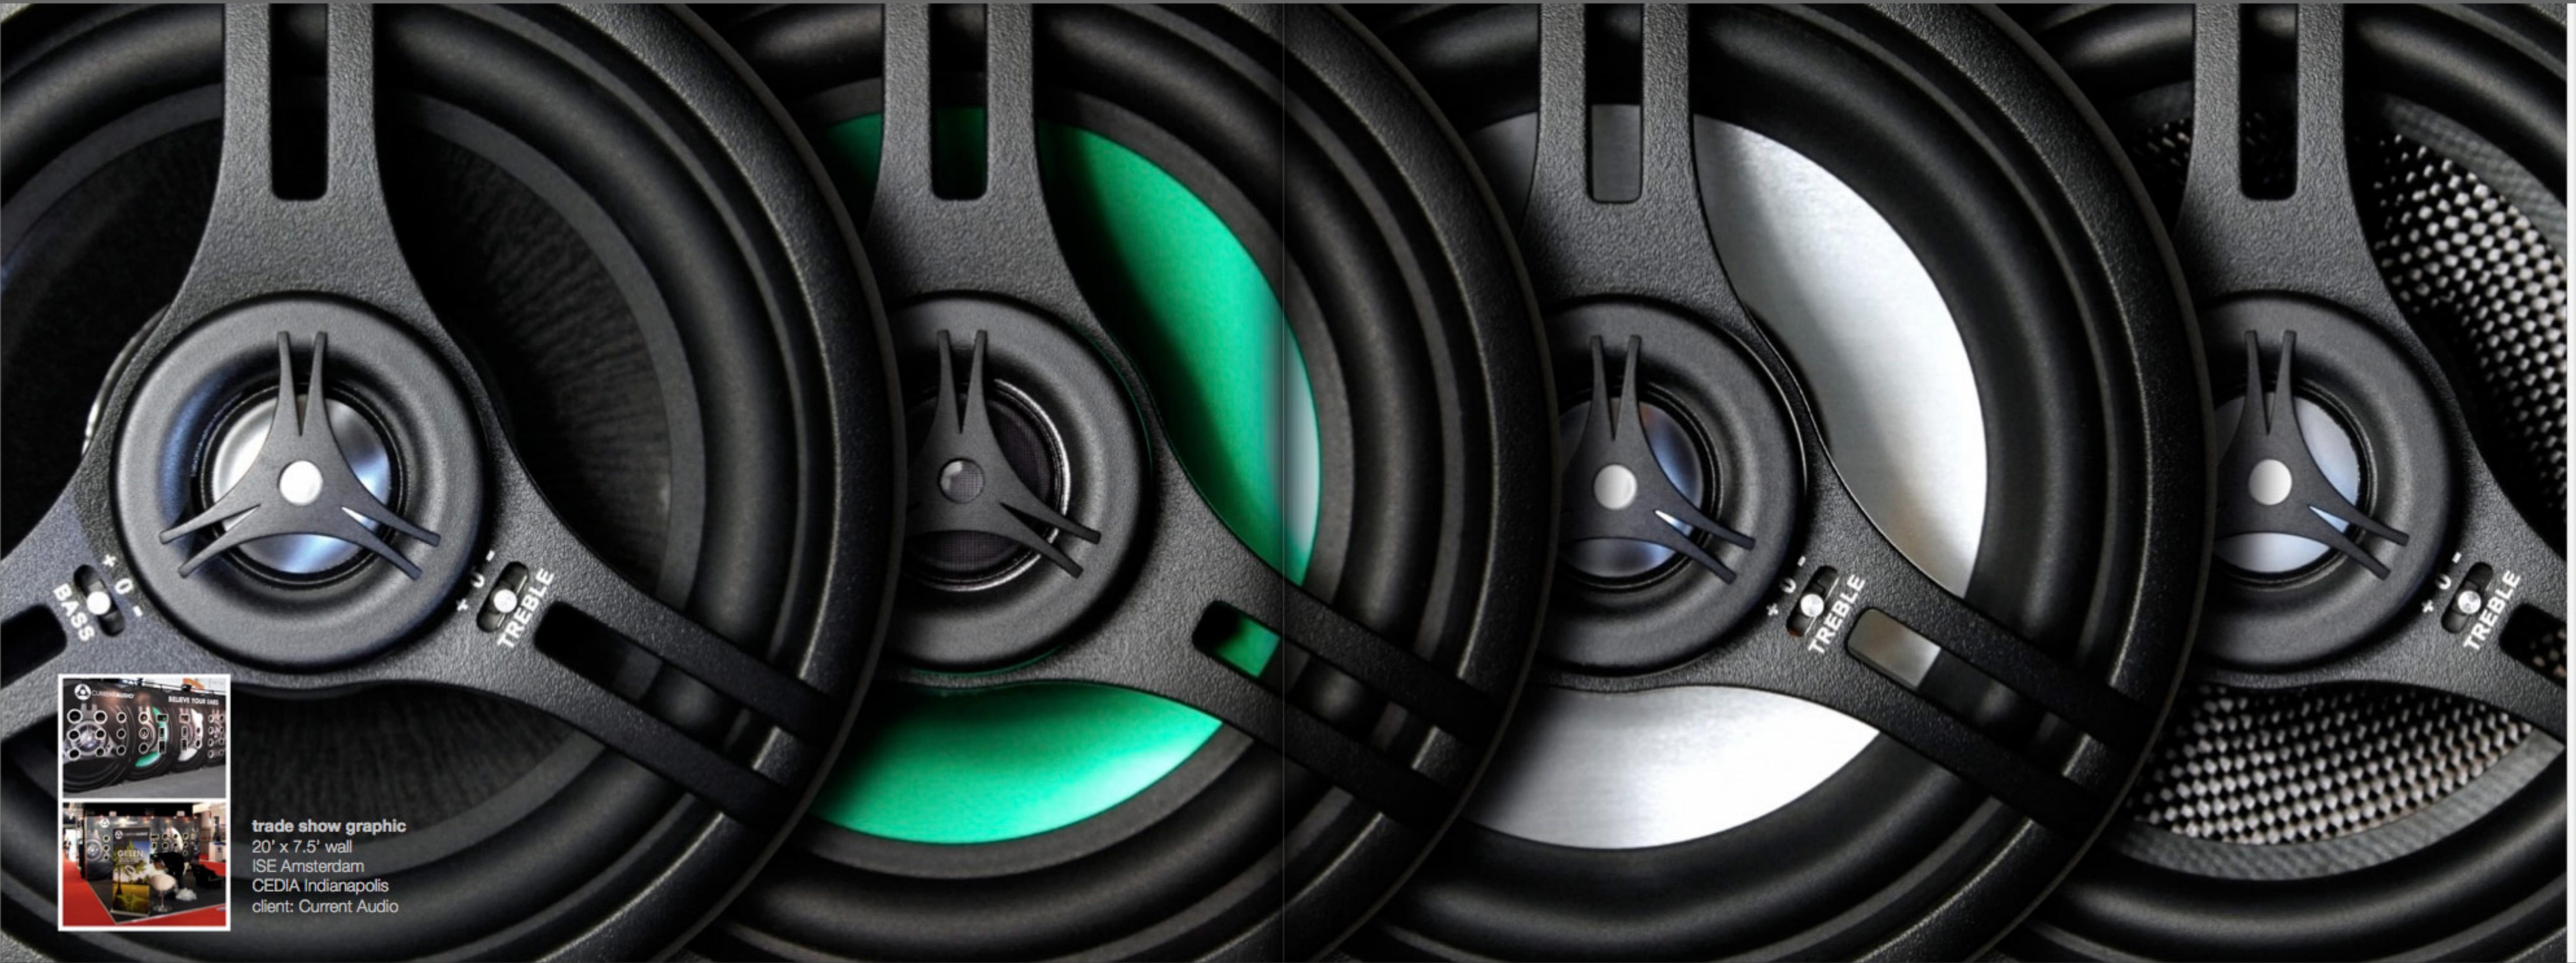

Drop by CEDIA Booth 896 and meet the New Family.

AUSTRALIAN ABORIGINAL ART

Join us for the opening reception
THURSDAY DECEMBER 7 and FRIDAY DECEMBER 8
Evening receptions begin at 5:30 p.m.

William King is Journey Man's most popular Aboriginal artist. His works are inspired by both his attachment to the land and his intense love of life. They have titles such as "Big River", "Red" and "Celebrations of Life" and include triptychs and pentptychs of up to five panels. William King is truly unique among Aboriginal artists.

My name is William King [of the aboriginal tribe Jungala]. I was born in Katherine in the Northern Territory of Australia on the 17th August 1966. In so many ways much of my past seems like someone else's story, feeling so long ago. Every aspect of what I confront on a day to day basis excites me. I hope my art captures the intensity in which I see my beautiful world.
